DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1, 10 and 22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Nishimura, et al. (4,858,953).

Nishimura discloses a safety belt device without tightly binding body comprising a safety belt 14 with a flashboard, a belt retractor 26, a buckle (not shown), and a limiter 79a, 79b wherein the limiter includes an upper housing and a lower housing 47a, 47b, a belt inlet and a belt outlet being provided on two side faces of the housings, an upper roller 44 and a lower rollers 54 are provided at two sides of the safety belt within the housings, at least one of the upper and the lower rollers being movable in a direction close to the other roller; clamping sleeves 40, 42 are fixedly secured around the lower roller and the upper roller, respectively so that the safety belt is clamped between the clamping sleeves as the rollers move close to each other; and the upper roller and the lower roller are configured to be rotatable in a belt-unwinding direction to allow the belt to be pulled out. The belt retractor is mounted within the housings of the limiter. The device is configured to provide a friction force between the clamping sleeves and the belt larger than a retracting force applied to the belt by the retractor.

Art Unit: 3616

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 4, 6-9, 11-21 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

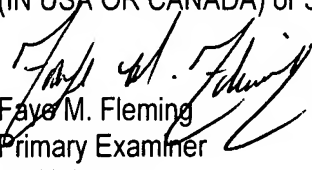

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
